Please use this week to get to know each other and also to learn how to use the moodle better. To be able to introduce yourself, please click on the 'Group forum for getting to know each other', then click on reply and then you will see a box where you can answer the questions. After that click at the bottom on 'Post to Forum'. When you do this, your reply will be send to the forum for getting to know each other and everybody will receive a copy and also be able to see what you have written. Please use this chance to learn more about the moodle and each other by asking questions or commenting on what others have written.

This is also a good chance to see how much time you need for each week and when is the most convenient time for you.

I look forward to getting to know all of you!

Have fun on your first week! 😊

- Welcome note and Introduction to the course
- Group Forum for getting to know each other

9 October - 15 October

I am very happy to see that most of you are coping well with everything.

It is a great pleasure to get to know you all and I hope we will all get to know each other even better as our journey together progresses.

This week we will deal with culture. Just click on the different topics, read them and then click on the quiz and do it. At the end click on the discussion forum where you can tell us what your definition for culture is.

Please do not hesitate to contact me in case of anything.

Good luck!

'absolutely intercultural!'

Welcome to the first ever intercultural podcast. 'absolutely intercultural!' is its name and, as far as we know, this is the first podcast in the world to deal with intercultural issues. We'll be releasing a new episode every second Friday evening, looking at all intercultural aspects of human intercultural communication. For example, we'll be hearing from students on foreign work placements, looking at intercultural aspects of the forthcoming World Cup, asking how teachers can make use of intercultural exercises and simulations in their classroom and sharing with you any intercultural gossip we come across. 'absolutely intercultural!' won't be so much about passing on information but more about starting an intercultural dialogue between the makers, and you, the contributors and listeners.

'absolutely intercultural!' 15 +++ Practical training, internships and studies abroad +++ Culture as the software of the mind +++

Go abroad! And why not to Germany?

You will hear reports, stories and even some advice of people who went abroad to do an internship or to study at a foreign university.

Marie from Sweden for example has done both. First she did an internship in Germany and then, because she liked it so much, she came back about a year later to study here at the RheinAhrCampus for a whole semester. Karsten tells us a little about what he experienced during his time in Sweden.
